BASIX Alterations and Additions

Fixed price fee structure

About Additions and Alterations: BASIX Alterations and Additions are only applicable in NSW. BASIX has a specific section of the tool that is designed to assess Alterations and Additions to existing homes. This section differs slightly from the single dwelling and multi-dwelling sections of the tool in that there are no set reductions for energy or water. The tool aims to reduce potential water consumption and emissions by encouraging efficiency improvements.

Our Process: A consultant will complete the assessment based on the information provided. If any of the windows are unable to pass the consultant will provide three passing solutions to the client for approval. If additional options are requested hourly rates will apply. Once the client is satisfied with the requirements a certificate will be generated and issued for submission.

Fee structure: Our fees are based on the number of new or altered windows and/or skylights in the proposed design. An altered window or skylight includes new items that will replace existing items even when the size of the opening remains unchanged.
